(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, July 27.—With characteristic enthusiasm of the townspeople, the Ellwood City Golden Jubilee commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Lawrence county's second largest town swung into action last night with a citywide union church service.

More than three thousand residents and guests filled the high school stadium for the opening service which featured an address by Dr. Elmer Homrighausen, head of the Princeton Theological Seminary. Adding to the service was the appearance of the chorus of 150 voices, directed by Robert W. Taylor with Miss Marjorie Streeter as pianist.

Burgess Speaks
The opening Jubilee address was given by honorary chairman, Burgess Clyde B. Houk. From a small beginning Ellwood City has grown to be one of the leading industrial communities of Western Pennsylvania. At the present time, it has a population of about 13,500 people and has twenty-two mills and factories, all of which are engaged in defense activities.

Today a sportsmen's program will

PA NEW OBSERVES

Frank Young of Woodland avenue, reports to Pa New that he has a freak chicken with wings which, instead of lying flat, curl upwards on the chicken's back.

Work of removing the street car tracks and filling in the trenches, on Long avenue, has been completed, Pa New observes.

Curb setting on State street hill is nearing completion, and once the widened hill is paved, it will provide a notably improved approach to the city. There are some poles at the top of the hill that need to be set back, in order to complete the improvement of the hill route.

Despite the gas and tire situation,
there appeared to be a lot of Auto traffic on the highways in this section on Sunday.

Pa New entered a traffic officer at a new location on Sunday evening. He was on South Jefferson street just beyond the bridge, preventing traffic congestion and was the scores of autos moved out onto Jefferson street from the United Engineering project.

Pa New was given a drink of well water by a farmer near Harlansburg. To the farmer's water to be the sweetest. The well was found around here. The well was dug to twenty-six feet, was three feet in diameter.

Hamburg Is Blasted By R.A.F. Air Raiders; Some U. S. Flyers Aid

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, July 27.—Hundreds of Royal Air Force planes left a wide area of Hamburg in ruins today following a night raid against the most important seaport in Germany and largest on the continent of Europe.
It was estimated that at least 600 British bombers took part in the raid, the largest aerial assault since the last 1,000-plane bombing was carried out against Bremen.

The bombing of Hamburg "was on a very large scale and preliminary reports show it was most successful," the British ministry of information said.

Twenty-nine planes lost
Twenty-nine of the British planes were lost, but it was said that the losses are not considered heavy in view of the result.

An estimated 30 German raiders made widespread attacks during the early morning against five towns

U. S. Airmen In Heavy Attack Upon Tobruk

(International News Service)
CAIRO, July 27.—U. S. army airmen participated in a devastating attack on the Axis-held port of Tobruk in Libya over the weekend,
it was announced today.

Countless heavy bombs were dropped and a large portion of the town was lit up by raging fires, started when the bombs ignited gasoline dumps.

The attack was the most successful to date, despite the fact that low-hanging clouds often prevented bombardiers from seeing their targets.

The Americans, operating under command of Maj. Gen. Lewis H.
Brereton, used their B-24's (Liberators) and Flying Fortresses in the attack.

Bandits Rob Debutante And Her Companion

Pair Abducted While Seated In Auto Near Home Of Young Lady

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Three unmasked bandits abducted a Squirrel Hill debutante and her companion early today, robbed them and forced them from their car in nearby Penn township.

The same bandits were blamed for two other parked car holdups within three hours.
Police said the bandits moved in on Miss Daphne Firth, daughter of L. Gerald Firth, president and general manager of the Firth Sterling Steel company in nearby McKeesport, and Stewart Scott, of the East End, while they were parked in front of the young socialite's home about 1 a. m.

They were driven to Penn township, where the bandits took a $100 watch and $3 in cash from Scott, treasurer of the Scott & McCune Real Estate firm. Police found their abandoned car in Homewood about three o'clock this morning.

Five U. S. Naval Officers Are Safe After Long Voyage

(BULLETIN)

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 27.—Five American naval officers, formerly attached to the U. S.
naval station at Cavite in the Philippines, have arrived safely in Australia after a dramatic 98-day voyage in an open boat, it was revealed today.
The men had been given up as lost or captured for weeks before they brought their tiny craft to haven.
The five men included Lt. Comm.
Alexander Simmons, of Los Angeles; Lt. Comm. Carl Faires, of Atlanta; Ga. Lt. Ellis Shofield, Ash-ville, N. C.; Lt. William Lippitt,
New Bedford, Mass.; and Lt. D. Rob-

Intensive Hunt Is Under Way For Three Saboteurs

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 27.—A flurry of suspects cropped up this week-end as police, G-men and the public engaged in an intensive manhunt for three Nazi saboteurs for whom a nation-wide alarm was sounded Saturday.

Before J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, announced last night he believed the trio had not yet reached this country, several persons were taken into custody in the New York area because they were said to resemble the Nazi-trained saboteurs.

A Coast Guardsman at East Hampton, L. I., told superiors he was stopped by three men who resembled the Nazis. After telling them he did not know the train schedule to New York City, the guardsman said the men thumbed a ride from a motorist.
Ernest Barth, 36, of Lakeview,
L. I., whose wife works in a bakery shop with the wife of one of the saboteurs, was released after questioning. Barth told police he "never met" the saboteur. Reinhold Barth.

Other saboteurs sought are Joseph Schmidt and Walter Kappe.

Flash Flood Near Lancaster

(International News Service)
LANCASTER, Pa., July 27.—Two persons were dead today as the result of a flash flood which suddenly covered highways with raging torrents and marooned hundreds of motorists for hours.
John Zerbe, 71, of Reamstown, was drowned by the overflow of the Cocalico creek near his home while attempting to swim from a bungalo, while Dorothy Long, 13, of Terre Hill perished in the high water when an automobile in which she was riding overturned near Martindale. Her father and two brothers were rescued.
Lightning fired a large barn near Weidmanville, causing damage estimated at $20,000. Several bridges were also swept away by the cloudburst.

Nazis Wipe Out Norwegian Village

(International News Service)
STOCKHOLM, July 27.—The Nazis have made "disposition" of all the residents of the little Norwegian village of Telavag, razed several weeks ago, advices from Norway revealed today.
After the gestapo had reduced the town to ruins, 120 men were deported to Germany for "hard labor." 150 women were interned at the Nord Helmsund concentration camp, and children more than six years old were sentenced to reform school.
Seventy-nine houses in the town were burned to the ground, in reprisal for the shooting of two gestapo officers bound for the village to arrest two Norwegian "terrorists."

Rapid Rabbit Eludes Japs

Newest "hero" of the Battle of Midway is revealed to be none other than "Midway" herself, a long-eared, pink-nosed rabbit, the pet of T. J. L. Saxon, of Columbia, Miss., cook, second class, of the United States Navy. Saxon is pictured above carrying "Midway" in his gas mask bag after he landed at San Francisco. He said that when the battle started, "Midway" started jumping straight up and down. When they were forced to abandon the ship, the rabbit was rescued and Saxon retrieved her.

Red Reinforcements Aiding Timoshenko

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 27.—Marshal Sem-yon Timoshenko, commander of Russian forces defending the Caucasus, is believed preparing for an immediate final stand against the onslaught of Nazi legions driving on the oil fields, the Exchange Telegraph company reported today from Moscow.

Counter-attacks by the Red army in the Tsimlyansk area, 125 miles northeast of Rostov, Exchange said, now reveal that Timoshenko has gained sudden access to powerful reinforcements.

A thousand Germans were reported slain in one action.
The military expert of the London Daily Express said that it was estimated German General Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock was using 600 tanks, 1,000 aircraft, a mass of mobile artillery and 250,000 men in an attempt to batter his way through Tsimlyansk.

Exchange Telegraph said that the

Sargent Presents Violators' Names

Frank Sargent, chief air raid warden, today reported he proposed submitting to city O.C.D. Director D. O.
Davies today the names of five asserted violators of the recent Blackout law. Whether or not they will be prosecuted is for the director to decide, Sargent stated.

Allied Patrols Clash With Japanese Troops In New Guinea Advance

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S
HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA,
July 27.—Allied soldiers on patrol in Papua, southeast New Guinea, have clashed with Japanese attempting to advance inland from newly-won bases at Buna and Gona. Gen.
Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The disclosure of skirmishes between enemy and allied patrols were made in a communiqué which said that United Nations air units were continually blasting at Jap installations at Gona and were believed to have wrought severe damage in the target area.

Aerial Assaults
Aerial assaults also were made against Japanese bases in the Solomons, with the allied fliers bombing objectives on Bougainville island and at Buks and Sohana islands to the north. The Japs attempted a new raid on Port Darwin, allied base in North Australia, but caused only negligible damage.

German U-Boat Surfaced 800 Yards Off Shore

By JACK VINCENT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—The German submarine which landed four of the eight Nazi saboteurs on American shores surfaced within 800 yards of the U. S. Coast Guard station at Amagansett, L. I., it was learned today, and stayed afloat for fully 30 minutes while the spies struggled with an overturned rubber boat to land their supplies.

More details of the German "invasion" of the Long Island shore, disclosing the astounding ease which the Nazi agents had in landing, became known as the trial of the eight saboteurs before a military commission in Washington entered its 16th day, with the possibility it may end about the middle of the week.

According to an official Coast Guard statement, a Coast Guardsman—unnamed—actually stumbled across the saboteurs as they were landing on the beach near Amagansett. For the first time, it was disclosed that the landing occurred about 800 yards from the Coast Guard station here.

Gas Rationing May Be Probed

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 27.—A congressional investigation of gasoline rationing and the possibility of increasing eastern supplies loomed today when the New York State Gasoline Dealers Association requested such action in a petition filed with U. S. Senator James M.
Mead.

The association also urged the filing of similar petitions with members of congressional delegations by other state associations who are members of the eastern states gasoline dealers conference.

Air-Raid Siren To Be Secured

Sensing the need for a siren that can be heard all over the city when an air raid alarm is required, council today gave Director of Public Safety D. O. Davies who is also city O.C.D. director authority to procure to get one. It was admitted by the city fathers that possibly some people had not heard practice alarms.

Mr. Davies made it clear that the big need is a siren that can be heard all over.

All Nazi Spies Have Testified

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—The military commission conducting the secret trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs landed in this country by German submarine, disclosed today that all of the spies now have testified in their own behalf, indicating that the trial is drawing near a close.

Berlin Report Says Batiask Stormed; Taken

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 27.—By official German wireless—The town of Batiask, south of Rostov, has been stormed and taken by German troops, the German high command claimed today.

Meanwhile, other heavy German forces were said to have reached a point northwest of Kalatsch in the big bend of the Don, only 50 miles west of Stalingrad on the Volga.

German bombers made heavy attacks on Volga river traffic and railway targets northwest of Stalingrad, it was asserted.

Additional Soviet attacks northwest of Voronezh were repulsed with heavy enemy losses, it was claimed.

British attacks on the southern end of the desert fighting front west of El Alamein were admitted, as were British raids on Hamburg during the night. "There were fairly heavy civilian casualties," it was asserted.

Thirty-seven British planes were said to have been shot down.

NEW RECORD SET
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 27.—The American Bridge Company, by erecting 41,387 tons of structural steel last month, set a new all-time monthly record. L. A. Paddock, president of the U. S. Steel subsidiary reported today.

The new mark represents a 47 per cent increase over the department's best previous record established in October, 1930. Virtually all of the tonnage was for war projects.

Supper Late; Dual Tragedy Ensues

Charge Husband With Two Deaths

"Late Dinner Motive" Not Satisfactory To Coroner As Cause

KNIFE IS USED TO SLAY GIRL BRIDE

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Incredible authorities in nearby upper Darby today were investigating the case of a 32-year-old war worker who fatally slashed his 18-year-old wife because supper was late and then ended his own life with a pocket knife.

Police found the girl, Mrs. Doris Hodges, dead in the kitchen and her husband, Thomas Olin Hodges, an electrical worker, dying in a chair on the front porch of the home of the bride's mother in Drexel Hill.

Quarrel Ensues
A cousin of the Hodges, William S. Johnson, a naval petty officer, told detectives a quarrel ensued when the bride's mother found that the evening meal was not prepared. Johnson declared he tried to stop the enraged man but was driven off by a slash of the knife.

Deputy Coroner George C. Topfizer announced he was not satisfied with the apparent "late dinner" motive. He asserted that "it doesn't seem possible for a man to kill his wife and himself in a simple argument over a meal."

Mrs. Hodges was graduated from the eighth grade in upper Darby junior high school. According to authorities, she met and married her husband, a strapping 200-pounder on a vacation trip to Florida five months ago.

NESHANNOCK AUXILIARY PLANS FAMILY OUTING

Neshannock Auxiliary have plans made for a picnic outing to be held Tuesday evening, July 28, at Cascade Park, with families as special guests, beginning promptly at 6 o'clock.

A program of games and contests has been arranged for the young folks, and other diversions will also feature the after dinner hours.

Mrs. F. B. Dinmore is general chairman in charge.

MAN STRUCK WHILE WALKING ALONG ROAD

Gerald Christopher of 6517 Third avenue, Detroit, was struck by an automobile driven by Laura L. Coulter of R. F. D. No. 2, while walking along Route 422, three miles west of the city.

He was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where an examination revealed no broken bones, and he was able to leave after treatment.

which it was said that it was believed Japanese agents had landed on the shores of the commonwealth from Sumatra.

The Japanese, according to the statement, came ashore at lonely, unprotected points on the coast and it is believed they are being harbored by pro-Japanese British elements.

The possibility of the Japanese landings, it was said, was borne out by the belief that secret allied military movements had been learned by the Japanese. They could have learned of these movements only in Australia, it was said.

LONDON, July 27.—Vichy radio, according to the Exchange Telegraph company, said in a broadcast today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China had arrived in India for consultations with Louis A. Johnson, special emissary of President Roosevelt at the head of the United States advisory mission to India.

LONDON, July 27.—Tokyo today issued a communique, Reuters reported in which it was claimed that Japanese submarines sank eight Allied ships with an aggregate 71,000 tonnage between June 1 and July 16.

It was asserted that two of the vessels were sent down off Seattle, five off the East coast of Australia and one off the Aleutians.

(This Japanese claim has not been substantiated in any responsible quarter.)

LONDON, July 27.—The Daily Mirror said today the Moscow radio had announced that the Soviet Baltic fleet's air arm had sunk five enemy destroyers, an auxiliary cruiser, three U-boats and eight transports.

LONDON, July 27.—The Berlin radio was quoted today by the Daily Sketch as claiming seven total of 28,000 tons had been sunk when the Nazis attacked a large United Nations convoy north of the Azores.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, July 27.—Sinking of the fishing schooner Lucile M with injury to four of her crew by a huge German submarine whose commander directed shell-fire at the tiny craft for half an hour and then said he was "sorry but had to do it" was disclosed today.

COW ASSAULTS' CAR
(International News Service)
MONTROSE, Pa.—A Susquehanna county court jury has found a cow guilty of assault and battery on an automobile.

The jury assessed farmer Will Booth $60.80 for damages one of Booth's bovines inflicted on poultryman C. P. Dodgen's car after the cow jumped a fence and plunged into the highway.

In a counter-suit, tried at the same time, Booth contended Dodgen's car ran into the cow, not the cow into Dodgen's car.

Which is smarter, to stop production and change to a better design, or use precious material in an inferior weapon that won't give our boys a fair chance?

Painter Hill School Reunion, Saturday

Annual reunion for the Painter Hill School pupils and teachers, proved a fine success, the occasion taking place at Lakewood Beach on Saturday, in the form of an all day affair.

At noon, a bountiful dinner was served to guests numbering eighty or more, at the long picnic tables. John Haley offered the invocation.

During the hours that ensued, a program was featured under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Ball, Walmo resident, who conducted group singing and also led in the singing of patriotic selection. She presented in a series of readings, Alice Morris, Betty Reynolds, Edith Robinson, Jennie Gerlach, Vera Cheras and Robert Oesterling. A vocal duet was sung by the Mayberry sisters, and a number of harmonica solos were offered by Mrs. Forbes Reynolds. A mock radio skit was presented by Louise Morris, and in closing, all joined "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

Officers elected during the afternoon, were Will Smith of this city as president; Herman Lentz of East Brook, vice-president; Mrs. Nancy Barnett of New Castle, secretary and treasurer.

In 1943 the reunion will be held on the last Saturday of July at Community Park, New Wilmington.

Simon Bolivar, liberator of his native country and South America, was born in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1783.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Howard S. Howell
Mrs. Harriet A. Smith Howell, wife of Howard S. Howell, 1811 Delaware avenue, died Sunday evening at 10:30 o'clock at her home. Although Mrs. Howell had been in failing health for the past few months, she had been around the house as usual yesterday until a few minutes before her death.

Born in Philadelphia, a daughter of Henry and Jane Simmons Smith, Mrs. Howell had resided for 50 years in western Pennsylvania and 20 years in New Castle. She was a member of Highland U. P. church. Surviving, in addition to her husband, are two daughters, Mrs. Frank L. Burton of 304 Euclid avenue and Thelma Howell at home; two granddaughters, Dorothy Jane and Elizabeth Ann Burton, and one sister, Mrs. Daniel Cahill of Philadelphia.

Funeral services are to be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence.

Mrs. Joseph Trivulino
After a long illness, Mrs. Jessie Trivulino, aged 47, wife of Joseph Trivulino, died Sunday evening at 10:10 o'clock at her home in Wampum.

Mrs. Trivulino, who had been a resident of Wampum for a number of years, is survived by her husband and the following children: Camella, Mrs. Lena Belasnera of New Castle, Nick with the United States army at Boston, Amey with the U. S. army at Camp Blanding, Fla., Dominick, Samuel, Patsy, William, Joseph, Jr., and Deloris.

The body, removed to the Marshall funeral home in Wampum, is being taken to the residence this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Funeral mass will be celebrated Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Monica's church.

Mrs. J. E. Galbreath
Mrs. Nellie Mae Galbreath, aged 55, wife of J. E. Galbreath, 3927 Fourth street, Struthers, O., died in South Side hospital, Youngstown, Sunday afternoon at 5:50 o'clock, death being caused by complications following a long illness.

Mrs. Galbreath, born in Pennsylvania on May 12, 1887, had resided in Struthers for 13 years. She is survived by her husband; three children, Mrs. Veva Jane Cates, J. Elmer Galbreath, Jr., both of Struthers, Joseph Galbreath of East Palestine, O., one grandchild; two brothers, George Kriner of Reynoldsville, Charles Kriner of Butler; one half-brother, Luther Piller, who has been taken prisoner by the Japanese; a number of nieces and nephews in Curranville, Pa., and a niece, Miss Hugo Schoendian of Chicago.

The body, at the Marshall funeral home in Wampum, will be taken this afternoon to the residence in Struthers where services will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Tuesday evening after the services, the body will be returned to the funeral home for funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Clinton cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home Wednesday morning.

Conley Funeral
Funeral services for Franklin C. Conley, East New Castle, were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Mr. Conley's brother, Ferd Semans, 916 Rose avenue. Rev. C. J. Burton, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, officiated.

During services, two selections were sung by Mrs. Marie Knight and Mrs. Vera Knight.

Palbearers, nephews of the deceased from Franklin and Pittsburgh, were Graydon Cook, Jr., Arthur Harry and Walter Chapin, Floyd and Arville Jones.

Interment was in Castle View Burial Park.

People attending from out of town were Mrs. Mabel McLaughlin of Ridgewood, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Graydon H. Cook, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Graydon H. Cook, Jr., of Pittsburgh and Miss Blanche Maxler of Rocky River, O.

Mrs. Kerr Funeral
Largely attended funeral services for Mrs. Charles A. Kerr, R. D. 1, New Galilee, were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from White church in New Galilee with the pastor, Rev. Ward, in charge, assisted by Rev. W. W. Willis, also of New Galilee.

During services Mrs. Gray Foster and Mrs. C. H. Todd sang appropriate selections.

Palbearers were Clarence, Wayne and Raymond Duncan, Arthur and Wilbur Beatty and Stuart Coler, Jr. Interment was in White church cemetery.

midway between Buna and Port Moresby, advanced United Nations base of New Guinea, was the first indication that the Japs already had attempted to move by land against Moresby since they put an estimated 2,500 sea-borne troops ashore at Gona last week.

Advance Of 40 Miles
The appearance of the Japs at Awala marked an advance of nearly 40 miles over a treacherous mountain road across the Owen Stanley range.

"Our patrols engaged the enemy in light skirmishes," was all the communique said of the action at Awala.

In the allied bombing of Gona, Gen. MacArthur said, the targets smashed included anti-aircraft and machine gun batteries, food and ammunition dumps.

A Japanese Zero fighter was shot down in a dogfight and others were damaged. Two allied craft were reported missing.

Allied fliers were revealed to have attacked Kieta, the harbor of Bougainville, and in the Buka passage to the North Buka and Sohana Islands. No details were given on these raids.

Gen. MacArthur at the same time disclosed that Japanese patrols which recently carried out an attack against allied forces at Mubo, just below the enemy base at Salamaua, northeast New Guinea, were surprised and repulsed with the loss of 60 men killed. The allied forces presumably were part of a commando unit which previously carried out a surprise land sortie against Salamaua, slew 60 Japanese then and made off with valuable equipment.

Salvage Old Steel For Lorain Plant

Last Old Car Plant Structure Comes Down To Aid Ohio Industry

Steel framework of the only old building spared when wreckers cleared the vast Mahoning avenue site of the old Standard Steel Car Co. some time ago, today was being dismantled for shipment to Lorain, Ohio.

The idle structure, bought by the O. Hommel Co. of Carnegie, Pa., when the concern had under consideration a new industrial development at Pulaski, was sold by Hommel to the White-Roth Machine Co. Lorain, for a new building there.

Mooney Bros. acquired a large section of the old plant property for its headquarters, soon after it was cleared of the old buildings.

feet deep and located under a vein of coal. The well was several score of years old, and water had to be drawn with a hand windlass through the rock lined well.

Huge piles of ashes have been accumulated at the State Highway Department headquarters on Wilmington avenue, apparently in readiness for fighting treacherous highways next winter.

in the midlands. Approximately 50 persons were killed and another 50 injured. There was extensive property damage in a total of 23 districts.

The Hamburg attack, acknowledged by the Berlin radio, followed by only 24 hours the most devastating assault ever carried out by the R. A. F. against Duisburg, largest river port in the world.

The Berlin radio quoted a dispatch by DNB, official German news agency, saying that both high explosives and incendiaries were dropped on Hamburg by the R. A. F. and that numerous fires were started. Most of the damage, the Nazis asserted as usual, was to residential districts.

Alarms In London

During the course of the night London itself had two air raid alarms, the 558th and 559th alerts of the war. Both were caused by the appearance near the British capital of lone raiders. No bombs were dropped.

During the first London alert the chatter of anti-aircraft fire and the sound of planes was heard in an area of southeast London.

Two houses were destroyed, five persons were killed and eight others injured when the Nazi Luftwaffe bombed a town on the southwest coast of England early in the evening.

Throughout the night German craft conducted scattered raids over the midlands and north and northwest England. They swooped down to machine-gun early morning workmen walking through the streets to their jobs.

Daylong Raids

The night aerial assaults following daylong attacks by the Royal Air Force against objectives on the occupied coast of the continent.

Seven American Air Force pilots, flying British Spitfires, took part in the sorties. It was the first time the United States fliers had attacked France from the air although on July 4 American airmen celebrated by bombing targets in Holland.

One of the most important victories of the day was chalked up when nine of Germany's new Focke-Wulf fighters, were destroyed and several others damaged. British air experts said the aerial dogfight proved that the latest type of British Spitfire fighter is able to deal with the newest model in German fighters.

The Daily Mail's air expert suggested that the engagement was a heavy setback for the Focke-Wulfs and might result in a fresh intensification of the R. A. F. air offensive.

Three Spitfires were lost. The attacks on northern France.

Reuters quoted the Juiyshev radio as saying that German casualties between May 15 and July 15 were 2,000,000 including 350,000 killed.

The Russian announcer said that there are now not enough trains to evacuate the German wounded to the rear although Hitler is able to provide transport for troops moving to the battle front.

He added, was that hundreds of wounded are dying for lack of medical attention.

QUESTION FAITH

Why is it that in the remodeling of the property, which we recently purchased on Moody Avenue, that it is nearly impossible to dig out or tear up any cement work around that building, after a period of about 25 years.

And then, when you go out through cities and towns and see bridges, curbing, streets and other cement work, that have been done, some of them within the last two years, crumbling down and falling to pieces.

There must be some reason.

LUSK-MOORHEAD WEDDING SATURDAY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Baker of the Harlansburg road was the scene of a quiet but impressive wedding ceremony, when their daughter Virginia Baker Lusk became the bride of Frank Moorhead, son of Mrs. Charles Moorhead of R. D. 3, Shupper Rock, on Saturday evening, July 25.

In the presence of immediate families of the couple, the vows were exchanged at 8:15 o'clock. The Rev. Robert Douglass, pastor of the East Brook and Neshannock United Presbyterian churches, was officiating minister. He used the single ring service.

For her marriage, the bride chose a rose-beige shadow sheer street length dress with Navy accessories, complimented with a shoulder bouquet of pink gladioli and pink roses.

Music was contributed by two nephews of the bride, Richard Hillgoss of Akron, O., and Robert Johnson of New Wilmington. The latter sang two songs with the former playing the accompaniment.

A reception followed, with the nuptial theme being carried out in the tapel setting and the buffet lunch, with pink and white tones predominating.

Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Moorhead departed on a short wedding trip, and upon returning, will reside at Harlansburg.

Mrs. Moorhead was affiliated with the Pennsylvania Power Company as Home Economist, until recently.

Mr. Moorhead is connected with the Ellwood City Forge Company.

Out of town guests present at the ceremony, were Miss Mary Moorhead and James Moorhead of Harlansburg, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Jones of West Alexandria and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hillgoss and son of Akron, O. Robert Johnson, of New Wilmington.

ADAMCZYK-DEC EVENT IN MADONNA CHURCH

Madonna church was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony yesterday afternoon, July 26, when Miss Josephine Adamczyk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Adamczyk of 35 Good avenue, became the bride of Louis John Dec of Oakland avenue, in the presence of friends and relatives of the couple.

The church altar was beautifully decorated for the occasion, an arrangement of summer flowers, being used effectively, set off in the glow of lighted Cathedral candles. The vows were exchanged at 3 o'clock, with the Rev. Fr. Edward Pikulik, officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white taffeta gown made entrain, and finger tip veil cascading from a crown. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas. Her entrance was announced by the organist sounding strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, and she was preceded by her only attendant, Miss Elizabeth Moskal, who served as maid of honor. She wore a pink brocade satin gown, toe length, and carried pink roses and delphinium.

Joseph Dec served his brother as best man.

The sounding of Mendelssohn's Wedding March was chosen for the recessional, after which the couple received congratulations of their hosts of friends. Immediately following, a reception was featured at the home of the bride's parents, the nuptial theme predominating in the appointments throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. Dec left later on a trip to Niagara Falls, Detroit and other lake points. Upon returning, they will be home to friends at 132 Oakland avenue.

The bride, who has been feted to a series of lovely parties and showers since news of her engagement was made known, attended New Castle high school. The bridegroom, who attended Union high, is steward of the Kasimir Pulaski Club on Oakland avenue.

A large collection of shower an wedding gifts received by the couple, were displayed at the home of the bride's parents.

WAR PLANE TEAMWORK

An agreement has been reached—according to a dispatch from London—whereby the United States is to supply the RAF with one thousand bombers a month.

Since that number is virtually all the bombers that will be needed in the war, it confirms earlier forecasts that America is to concentrate on bomber production and fighter planes for its own forces, leaving England the task of equipping itself, Russia and China with the smaller combat planes.

There are obvious advantages in such an arrangement. A bomber is its own means of transportation. The shipping shortage does not enter into its distribution to the various fighting fronts. The huge American planes can be delivered anywhere on earth on their own wings, carrying spare parts and other equipment with them. The fighting planes of shorter range must be laboriously stowed on ships and sent to destinations that require weeks or months to reach. Most of the present destinations of fighter planes are closer to England than to America.

The one important exception is China. Britain has no shorter haul to China than does the United States. Both are compelled to deliver fighter planes to the Persian Gulf and then fly them across India to China. In time America may develop a route through Alaska and Siberia to the Chinese Allies, but at the moment China is the most remote of all the United Nations.

The teamwork implied in America as a source of bombers and Britain as a source of fighters looks good. The American bomber has proved to be the world's best. Before many more weeks have passed it will become a decisive factor in the war on all fronts.

STEEL SHELLS

The War Department is shifting from brass to steel in the manufacture of artillery shell cases. The purpose is to save copper, of which the United States has had a heavy supply but which is being drawn upon by many war activities and to meet the needs of the United Nations.

The shift has been made possible by the development under military secrecy of a steel that will act as brass does under firing conditions. When a gun is fired the explosive charge expands the barrel of the gun minutely for a fraction of a second. Then the barrel contracts to its original size. The shell case also expands and must return to its original size so that it may be easily extracted. Brass has this physical feature and has been in universal use in cartridge case making.

The government has tested the new steel cases for durability and reliability and it is estimated that their adoption will result in a saving in 1942 of 1,000 tons of copper.

ERA OF LIGHTNESS

Scientists today are found in almost unanimous agreement on a single forecast—that the post-war period is to be marked by adoption of light materials in everyday objects heretofore distinguished for their weight.

Well up in the list of these lightened objects are put those which are made of aluminum that comes from alumina that derives in turn from common clay. Along with this improvement is the predicted employment of alloys for strengthening steel and aluminum, thus making possible reduction in the amounts used in machines wholly or partly constructed of these metals.

Among the prophets in this line are those who claim that glass and ceramics are to be used in many new ways where lightness is a desirable element. Among the glass objects forecast are houses, vehicles and utensils of feathery lightness. A fluffy glass blanket is included in the forecasters' catalogue.

Not alone chemistry will be called into play in this development but also the science of crystallography. Prof. J. D. Bernal predicts that in this science X-rays will be turned on materials to discover how their crystals are arranged, whereupon physicists will contrive rearrangement to give strength only in the direction in which it is needed.

FIRE POWER THE GOAL

In London the House of Commons has been engaged in intensive debate over the arms program, with chief emphasis placed upon quality rather than quantity. The British have been deeply impressed by the Churchill disclosure that their army began the battle of Libya with a larger mass of equipment than Rommel had but lost despite the numerical advantage. The Axis had bigger anti-tank guns.

Significance of the debate in Commons is that no one in authority on either side of the Atlantic seems to be worried now about quantity production. That has been achieved. It was announced months ago that Allied production of both tanks and planes exceeded that of the Axis. The aim now is to turn out equipment with more striking power than anything the Axis has available. The cry, formerly for more weapons, now is for better weapons.

British officials in charge of production are giving members of Parliament earnest assurance that quality is being built into Allied weapons. By and large the planes the Allies are using are demonstrably better than those of the Axis. Sir Andrew Duncan, British minister of supply, says the tank now coming off the assembly lines is the best in the world, a weapon developed in co-operation with the United States which has in mass production the General Grants and the General Lees, both formidable vehicles.

This insistence that the United Nations shall have not only more weapons but better weapons than the Axis is reassuring. Commanding more materials and better designing skill, the Allies can not fail to come through.

Iowa, once noted for its tall corn, now is the state of glamorous soldiers.

Of course Hitler is mad, as psychiatrists claim, and the Allied staffs are concocting a mad dog treatment for him.

Army women are expected eventually to replace 150,000 men soldiers in desk jobs. This will be a gain unless 150,000 more desk jobs are created.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

ENCOURAGE A TIMID CHILD
AN ANXIOUS mother recently wrote me of her problem with her little daughter.

"My little girl was seven the first day she started to school last year. She has always been a very timid child. I sent her to a kindergarten the summer before she started to school and she would go every day and seemed to like to go, but she would take no part in anything.

"Last year at school she would not even talk to her teacher, only shake her head. Sometimes this year she talked to her teacher out of school, but only occasionally at school. Her written work is fine and she reads well.

Timid Around Strangers
"I took her back after school several times. The teacher told me that she was a smart child and could read better than anyone in the class; her other work was good. She enjoys children and takes a main part in their play. She is timid around strangers, but a great talker at home and with friends.

"I have tried every way I could think of to get her to talk but she will not. I have taken the teacher out riding. She talks to her then, and when I have her here at home. She will only shake her head before the class. I have worried myself sick over this.

"In the first place, mother, don't take the matter so seriously. I think I know how you feel, but I also know you want to get results. The chances are you have talked so much about the child's shyness to her, and to others in her presence, that she thinks she ought to be shy. Even if you have said nothing, you have betrayed your anxiety by the way you act and look.

Patience Needed
Go on being patient with the child and keep in close touch with her teacher, who seems to be sympathetic, inviting her more often to your home.

I once taught in a country school where I had a pupil seven years old who had gone to school the whole year without saying a word in class all that time. For three weeks she never spoke a word in school to me, although she was about the loudest and most talkative child on the playgrounds. Happily it occurred to me to ask her class to read in concert. Wonderfully she joined in. I kept at this over several days, heartily praising her for her co-operation and telling her I liked her voice.

One day, when she looked very happy after reading in concert, I

The World and the Mud Puddles

LET'S GET TOUGH

The complacency that Pearl Harbor exploded had begun to settle over this confident country once more—before the Libya disaster.

After Pearl Harbor, we were alert and angered. We took bad news without flinching; we fought freely on the war fronts and the home front. But then came the Coral Sea and Midway victories. Millions of Americans at home thought the Jap threat removed for good; thought they might relax and wait for the Russian armies and the British and American bombers to pulverize Germany into submission. Then Germany loosed her might in the drives for the Sturz and oil and union with the Japs. Then Tobruk fell, as suddenly and spectacularly as the forts of Belgium and Holland—to give that perilous complacency another jar, in England and America.

This may be a long war, and whatever its length, it will be terrible and dangerous to the end. Germany began preparing nine years ago. Britain began serious war preparations three years ago. Americans are only at the beginning of the real ordeal of fighting and agony and privation.

Are the Japs licked as a war machine? Are they ready to quit? Well, they are giving Japanese names to the American Islands taken in the Aleutians, and have brought in seed potatoes and farm implements!

America will win the war only by long and tough fighting. Very tough fighting. But it isn't the proper time to talk about victory while Japs plant potatoes on captured American soil!

This is the time to get tough!

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—General Chu Shih-Ming, Chinese military attaché, urges bombing of Tokyo from Chinese air base. "China is ready to do all she can, and we will grimly hold onto the bases now left. For the planes, spare parts and gasoline, we must look to America."

NEW YORK—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia appeals for action of the entire western hemisphere against moral invasion: "Moral invasion is as detrimental to our interests as a territorial invasion."

ALBANY, N. Y.—Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell, New York state civilian defense director, says women make better air raid wardens than men: "Women bring a peculiarly feminine zeal and persistence to a public task."

WASHINGTON—Senator Robert A. Taft, (R) Ohio, opposes the proposed income tax withholding tax: "This really has the effect of a 24 per cent income tax next year."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:19; sun rises tomorrow 5:54.

Very often the very best thing to give some people is encouragement.

A local bird says he never argues with his wife. He always pleads guilty and hopes for light punishment.

The government has ordered that hereafter that rubber shoes be made of only one color—black. That's better than no overshoes at all, but some want color everywhere.

BUBBLING YOUTH

As the parting instructions were being given, the fresh young salesman picked up his bag and started on his actual trip. "Good luck to you," said his chief; "wire us important news."

The following day this message was received: "Reached here safely, good room with bath, feeling fine."

The manager wired back, collect: "So glad, love and kisses, good-by."

When a local bird was asked how long it took his wife to learn to drive, he replied: "About two and a half cars."

THE DISCIPLINARIAN

Mortimer L. Schiff, the capitalist, was discussing the question of discipline at a bankers' banquet in Omaha.

"Some men," he said, "are inhuman in their idea of discipline. A banker was getting acquainted with the personnel of a new bank he had just taken over.

"I'm the paying teller, sir," a white-haired old fellow said to him. "I have worked here 47 years, sir, and in all that time I have made one mistake."

"Pleased to meet you," said the banker. "In future try to be more careful."

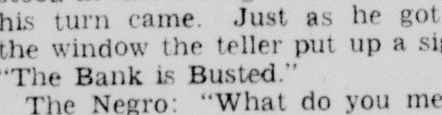

FRECKLED SALESMANSHIP

There was in dress-goods a salesman who used as a clincher the argument: "It just suits your style."

He was so successful with this somewhat ambiguous phrase that he grew careless and finally met his Waterloo. That was the day he tried to sell a polka-dot to a freckled-faced girl.

Men were talking about their radios. One asked "How many controls does your radio have?" "Two, my wife and my daughter."

It seems easy for some people to forget the things they do not want to remember.

A PROXIMITY BUST
A Negro went into a bank down South to get a check cashed. He stood in line a long time and finally his turn came. Just as he got to the window the teller put up a sign: "The Bank is Busted."

The Negro: "What do you mean, the bank is busted?"
Teller: "Well, it is, that's all; it's busted—didn't you ever hear of a bank being busted?"
The Negro: "Yes; but I never had one bust right in my face before."

"I'm sorry I haven't a dime," said the lady as she handed the bus driver a $10 bill. "Don't worry, lady," replied the conductor, your change will be all in dimes."

About the only kind of an account some people want to open is a charge account.

Not that anyone would care for our opinion, but as for slacks—there isn't much choice, coming or going.

INDIRECTLY ANSWERED

The new clerk came out of the boss's office looking puzzled.

"Did you tell him where he would get off if you didn't get the raise?" said one of his fellow clerks.

"Yes," replied the new-clerk. "I told him I would leave him flat if I didn't get it."

"What did he say?"
"Why, he told me he hadn't time to sing it, but I would find the firm's answer in the second line of 'Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here'."

Brains often cut more of a figure in big affairs than does money. It takes brains to get money unless one inherits it.

Politics must be kept out of this war at all hazards. Yet, as we look at the ration card, we can't help thinking the Republicans, as such, never did anything like this to us.

LETTING HIM DOWN EASY

A contractor had a man in his employ whom he wished to discharge. He did not wish to tell the man outright that he was fired, so he decided to write him a nice letter, letting him down easy. Four days passed and the contractor saw nothing of the man. On the fifth day, when the contractor came around to look over his work, to his surprise he saw the discharged man working to beat the band.

"Hey, you," he called, "didn't I tell you in that letter you were fired?"

"Yes, sir," replied the man. "It said I was fired in the middle of the letter, but on the outside of the envelope it said, 'Return in five days.'"

"Darling, will you be my wife?"
"Will you always let me do just what I like?"

"Certainly."
"Can mother live with us?"
"Of course, dear."

"Will you give up the club and always give me money when I ask for it?"

"Willingly, my pet."
"I'm sorry; I could never marry such a boob."

Teacher: Did your father help you with this problem?
Junior: No, I got it wrong myself!

The Persians have a way of saying on the birth of a child: "O, little one, you come into the world with cries while all around are smiling. So live that you may go out with smiles while all around are crying."

A big crop of beet sugar is predicted and the beets are being raised right in this country. You can't beat the beet!

A Texas policeman has had his house robbed four times in two years and now he is going to buy a police dog.

NO CLOCK-WATCHER
Shop Foreman: You ain't one of them blokes who drops their tools and scoots as soon as knock-off blows, are you?"
Lily White: "Not me. Why, I often have to wait five minutes after I put my tools away before the whistle goes."

Most men who become heroes never figured on being one. They were made heroes by doing great things at the right time.

It used to be tag day. Now it's touch day.

Something to think about! Already the United States has had 44,143 casualties in this war, counting men killed, wounded and taken prisoners.

Of course I wouldn't say anything about her unless I could say something good. And, oh, boy, is this good!

War Profiteering Will Be Penalized
Need Education In Letting Contracts
Contract Brokers Located In Capital

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 25—Capitalizing the war for individual profit is inexpressibly mean business, of course. Attorney General Francis Biddle very properly has minutely investigated suspected cases of it. Now Congress has passed a law penalizing it severely.

Operating in Washington, there undoubtedly has been a class of brokers who professed the ability to get unduly fat bargains for seekers after government contracts. Possibly some of them have been at the game for a long time, but it appears that Uncle Sam's present enormous wartime requirements have stimulated 'em in their activities and multiplied 'em numerically.

In the first place, if a broker collects pay from one of his customers for promised services that he can't perform, he's grafting on the customer, who hasn't any remedy for it, or he'd incriminate himself. Not that I think the greedy contractor is entitled to any sympathy.

Attorney General Biddle's investigation and another one by Chairman Carl Vinson of the representatives' naval affairs committee have strongly indicated a good many cases in which crooked contractors have employed crooked brokers and have had their money's worth from the latter in the form of mighty juicy contracts, and a good many other cases in which crooked contractors have been swindled by crooked brokers.

Many Need Help
If such discoveries hadn't been made, it wouldn't have been necessary for Congress to pass a law to put a stop to the system.

Now I don't for a minute intend to suggest that the average contractor applicant waits in excess of a fair return on his stuff. He may even consult a broker with no bad intention, but merely because he's inexperienced in Washington and believes he needs an old hand to advise him. If he gets a better deal than he'd expected, I presume he generally bears up under the shock with no particular lamentation.

Suppose, though, that a contractor, either by design or accident, closes a dicker on considerably favorable terms to himself.

A contractor and a broker combined can't dispose of a big order of goods to the government, at a fancy figure, without a bit of action.

SUMMER COTTAGE

I do not ask for plastered walls. With pictures hanging here and there.

I'm satisfied if rooms and halls. The summer through are wholly bare.

Content on shaky chairs I'll be. And think I'll look roof all right. If only they'll provide for me.

An up-to-date electric light. I want no cottage cluttered.

I much prefer one plain instead. With just this touch of city pride: A modern, comfortable bed.

Pass paper napkins round again, The table set with dishes odd. I'll rough it there and not complain.

With running water, hot and cold. What if the doorways bang and groan?

What if the floors, when trodden, squeak. And windows there are never known.

To shut or open week by week? I'll be content the summer through. Nor once for what is lacking plead.

If on the shelf one volume new Is stored away for me to read.

I think a summer cottage nice. I'm fond of eggs just off the farm. But forced to go seven miles for ice.

Destroys a little of the charm. Still quite contented I could stay. If I were granted one more boon.

I'd like my newspaper today. And not tomorrow afternoon.

Bible Thought

For Today

It is possible to be well acquainted with God. Have Him for a friend. Some find Him in quiet, in silence. His kingdom is within us. Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace; thereby God shall come unto thee.—Job 22:1.

Hints On Etiquette

The bridal arch of swords is formed in this way at a military wedding: The ushers must all be service men, and in uniform. Immediately after the marriage service, the ushers take their places facing one another, and at the command, "draw swords," they draw their swords and form an arch under which the bride and groom, and then the bridesmaids, walking two and two, march. When all have passed through the arch, the ushers hasten out of the side or vestry door of the church to the front steps, where they again, form the arch with their swords through which the bridal procession again passes.

Taxes And The Senate

WASHINGTON, July 27.

THE FIRST conception of the tax bill which the House having passed, the Senate is now considering, was that it had two great purposes. One was to raise revenue sufficient to swing the vast war expenditures without going beyond all reason the borrowing limit. The other was to drain off a larger proportion of the surplus income produced by war spending and which is in the hands of the lowest income group, so that the risks of runaway inflation might be minimized.

EVERYBODY AGREES that the bill falls far short of both goals. As it stands today, it is a botched and bungled job, the unsoundness and inadequacy of which are clear to every thoughtful man. Whether the Senate will be able to make it over into a decent instrument is uncertain. It can be done, but it may as well be admitted that the prospects are not good. The real reason for the refusal of the House to face up to the realities and for the failure of the Administration to supply strong leadership in this vital business of war taxation is because an election looms ahead. That is a discreditable fact, but it is inconceivable.

IT IS POLITICS which has paralyzed the patriotism of both the executive and the legislative branches of the Government. It is politics which prevents them from functioning as cleared-headed statesmen in a world crisis and turns them into imperious, the national interests.

Wonder if Hitler feels that hot breath on his neck yet?
It's the breath of young Americans.

They're getting closer. They're not across the Atlantic. They're just across the Channel.

The French can almost see them from their coast they're so close. Can almost see them and wave to them from "occupied France".

"Occupied France". But not for long. The young Americans are breathing hard and taking a grip on their guns.

Perhaps Hitler can feel that hot breath. Perhaps he can see the glint of steel.

They're getting closer. Thought for the day: Great day coming!

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

Every once in a while things get pretty tough, don't they?

And then you worry and fret and wonder how you'll ever get out of your jam.

Maybe you can benefit by Jamie Feeney's experience. True enough, Jamie is only 20 months old, but the principle is the same.

It was an awfully hot day and Uncle Tom Feeney simply had to go out and get some fresh air.

So he took little Jamie along, all dressed up in a red-white-and-blue bathing suit.

They wandered over to the park where there was a nice wading pool for the neighborhood kids. Around the pool was an iron fence, to keep the kids from straying away.

Uncle Tom was having a nice chat with some of the folks, and when he looked for Jamie, there was the kid with his head stuck between two of the iron bars, clear up to his neck.

There was great excitement. They splashed water on his head and even tried soap, but the head wouldn't come out.

So everybody got excited except Jamie. He spied a hockey-pokey wagon and asked, for some ice cream. Trapped though he was, he could still tackle the ice cream, and after the second portion he was grinning all over.

By that time the police emergency squad had arrived and two burly cops with crowbars jammed Jamie out of his predicament.

Then an ambulance arrived and the doctor put the stethoscope on him and gave him a thorough going-over.

The only thing he found was that Jamie's ears were a little red, but a little vaseline and another ice cream fixed that very quickly.

Uncle Tom felt pretty badly about the whole thing, but Jamie just grinned and thought it was all great fun.

There isn't really so much in this life that good old hockey-pokey can't fix.

Canning Sugar Certificates Arrive Today

For the first time since July 16 New Castle residents may again register for canning sugar as the long-awaited certificates finally arrived from Washington this morning. Sugar rationers could not explain the long delay but they were thankful that the certificates had come at last.

Registration will be held as usual in the Aiken schoolhouse on Pearson street and all who have not yet received their canning sugar are asked to come and register.

During the week and a half without certificates the sugar workers have been starting to file mountainous piles of applications and forms that accumulated during the long rush season.

Y Hobby School Ends With Hike

Hike Followed By Baked Bean Dinner To Close Club's Most Successful Year

Tuesday morning the Y. M. C. A. hobby school will wind up its summer activity with a hike and bean dinner. All the boys who made this year's class one of the largest and most successful in years are urged to be on hand.

The class was instructed in metal tapping by Lee Campbell, Bill Moore, Charles Book, Joe Tardio and Dario Baptiste. Many nearly professional pieces of work were turned out by the boys.

The hobby class is part of the regular schedule of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department. The class was large this year, as are all the other groups and classes in the boys' department for some reason this summer.

City Police Busy Saturday Night

Officers Raid Disorderly House And Also Apprehend Several Brawlers

City police not only raided an alleged disorderly house but arrested several persons who were accused of disorderly conduct inasmuch as to engage in brawls Saturday night, Mayor Charles B. Mayne imposed fines in police court, Sunday.

Lieutenant J. P. Steiner and other officers visited the asserted establishment of Harry Atkins, colored, Center street.

He was fined $50 upon conviction of operating an alleged disorderly house. Two colored women each were fined $5.00 and the white woman put up a cash forfeit of $10 but failed to appear for hearing in police court.

August McDougal, colored, Ellwood City, visited a Knox street home, became vexed, scattered berries and furniture around the house then paid $10 for his "enjoyment". The charge was drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Herbert McClaine imbibed too freely, caused trouble in West Washington street and meandered to the bus depot where police caught up with him. He was fined $10. The charge was drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Clarence Richardson, colored, California, attache of the carnival, sustained a wound an inch long above an eye in a fight with Willie Thomas, also colored, of this city, police report. It was said that Richardson, shoved Thomas off a seat and a fight started. Richardson was winning when others leaped in to the battle.

Thomas was suspected of using a knife but this could not be proved. He was charged with disorderly conduct. He was fined $10. Richardson's bill at a local hospital was ordered paid by Thomas.

Episcopal Churches And Salvation Army To Conduct Next Park Service

"Three Kinds of Men" was the subject chosen by Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, pastor of Central Christian church, when he spoke Sunday evening at the union service in Cascade Park. In his sermon, Mr. Bliss emphasized particularly the spiritual man and the necessity of developing the spiritual side.

This union service, sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association with Christian churches in charge last evening, was well attended. Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, presided.

Music was furnished by the two choirs of the First and Central Christian churches under the direction of Dave Lewis with Mrs. Kathryn Nessler Allen at the piano.

Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, pronounced the benediction.

Next Sunday evening, August 2, the Episcopal churches and Salvation Army will be in charge of the service with Rev. C. J. Burton of St. Andrew's church presiding. Captain Carl Andreassen of the Salvation Army will deliver the sermon and an instrumental quartet from the Salvation Army will play special selections. Other music will be provided by the combined choirs of Trinity and St. Andrew's churches.

quiescence on the part of the governmental boys who subscribe to it for Uncle Samuel.

Far be it from me to so much as hint that as many as one in 1,000,000 of our wartime contracting agents are otherwise than 100 per cent on the level.

A corking high percentage of 'em, however, are as unsophisticated as babies.

What chance does one of 'em stand, in conference with a slick, sly broker, who could sell an imitation gold brick to the treasury department?

What the government needs, to stop grafting, isn't so much a law, to punish it after it's been perpetrated, as a lot of educational courses, for the benefit of its executive crew, to prevent it in its incipency.

There are three groups:
1. The contractors.
2. The brokers.
3. The governmental guys.

I think I've given a pretty clean bill of health to the governmental-ites except as to intelligence. I've said that the contractors are okay, on an average.

Brokers As Guides
Now I propose to speak a word for the brokers.

Of the big ones I'm suspicious, as everybody is.

Many of 'em, however, are perfectly well intentioned. The fact is that they're not brokers. They're guides around the capital.

Washington now is the crassest place ever invented, to come into with the best intentions of promoting our war effort and good government miscellaneous.

I know a big out-of-town supplier summoned in to see a cabinet member. Arriving, he reported at the proper department. "Got an appointment?" asked the clerk.

"Nope," conceded the applicant, who'd neglected to bring his telegram. "But phone his office. He knows me." "Nothing doing," said the clerk. "You gotta go outside and phone in for an appointment. Appointments are the only things we recognize."

Mayor LaGuardia of New York was the caller I'm referring to.

The gal on the phone desk hadn't heard of him.

Thus a broker has his utility, if for no more than introductory purposes.

asked her to read alone. She did so, and read very well. From that time there was no trouble.

Now, mother, never say anything to your child about her failure to talk. Don't even act as if you know she doesn't always talk in school. When guests speak to her, betray no nervousness. If she does not shake hands, nor answer them, don't say a word, but draw the guest's attention away from the child. When your daughter does speak, show your approval by a generous smile, and when the guest has gone, tell her how proud you were of her.

Q. My 12-year-old boy won't mow the lawn unless some one keeps after him constantly.

A. Put on the calendar each date on which the lawn should be mowed this summer. Resolve to seal your lips each time he should begin the mowing but does not. Announce to him now one of the following as a penalty, but stick to one:

1. Withholding some cherished pleasure (the denial to be announced beforehand).

2. Have him sit and do nothing for two hours where he can be seen.

3. Let his next meal be limited to bread and water; ample bread, plenty of water. Any one of these is more humane than nagging.

scared little demagogues, willing to rather than incur a possible political risk. On both sides the exhibition has been a disgraceful one and the bill upon which the Senate committee is now concentrating no sincere defenders. It is a satisfactory to anyone.

THE REAL HOPE for a better bill is based on the fact that, while the whole membership of the House must be elected in November, only one third of the ninety-six Senators are concerned with this election. The other two thirds come up either in 1944 or 1946. This should mean that politics, as applied to taxes, will weigh less heavily in the Senate than in the House. However, the Senators who are in position to and who want to vote their convictions and act on this bill without regard to political considerations will have no greater support from the Administration than it gave the House, which is practically none. And without genuine and resolute administration support it is exceedingly difficult for either Senate or House to rise above politics and resist pressure on anything. It is possible, of course, but there are not many instances where it has been done.

UNDER OUR SYSTEM, the only way in which matters such as this can be dealt with as they should be is for the Administration, first, to cast aside its political fears and then to exert its influence upon Congress to do the same. It is regrettable that we have not got an Administration capable of that sort of thing. It is, perhaps, our greatest need in this critical period. What we have is an Administration which is setting a very bad example not only by engaging actively in present political campaign but in planning actively for future campaigns. The President's personal direction of the fight for the New York gubernatorial nomination is certainly no inspiration to members of Congress to forget politics while the war lasts—quite the contrary.

NOR CAN IT be said that the tax suggestions that have come from the President recently have been helpful. The one concrete proposal which he has made and to which he still clings is that a ceiling of $25,000 over individual incomes should be adopted, although the Treasury, itself, estimate that this would affect only 11,000 persons and bring in less than $185,000,000 additional revenue. Even if that were done the gap of $30,000,000,000 between spendable incomes and the things for which those incomes can be spent would still exist. Individual income and corporation income rates in the medium and higher brackets have now been raised to the extreme limit of safety—some think beyond it. Certainly, any further increases would bring the law of diminishing returns into operation and all present calculations would be knocked out.

YET, BOTH THE Administration and the House preferred to take this risk and accept a grotesque inadequate bill rather than accept the sales tax, which is the one logical alternative. The White House and the Treasury and the House of Representatives all recognize the inevitability of the sales tax. Yet in one of these is there the courage to take a stand for it before the election, although no one denies that the cost to the country of a year's delay will be very great. It remains to be seen whether the Senate will join this craven aggregation or will act in an enlightened and creditable way to buttress our financial foundations against the terrific strain of an unprecedented war.

Col. James Leaf Accorded Honor

ROCHESTER, Pa., July 27—Colonel James Leaf, veteran of the World War I and Spanish-American War, was honored yesterday by re-election as commander of the Fifty-second Engineers, veterans' organization, at its fifth annual meeting here.

The convention will continue today with meetings in the Foreign War Veterans' Hall.

Five Men Enlist In Army Today

WAAC Applications Arrive;
Army Calls For Signal Corps Specialists

Five men enlisted for service in the United States army today and seven applications for the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps were received, according to Sergeant John T. Bilpuch, army recruiting officer in the post office.

The enlistees were Donald L. Smith, son of Mrs. Hazel Smith, R. D. 3, New Castle; Alexander T. McCready, R. D. 2, New Wilmington; Martin Deppner, R. D. 2, Ellwood City, who enlisted in the Engineer Amphibian Command; Robert E. Van Tassel, 623 Darr avenue, Farrell, who enlisted in the Engineer Amphibian Command; and Henry T. D'Amico, 1105 Federal street, Farrell, who enlisted in the Engineer Amphibian Command.

Sergeant Bilpuch announced that he had received the formal applications for the WAAC and that they would be sent immediately to the women who have already appeared at his office.

Signal corps specialists are needed badly, according to orders sent to Sergeant Bilpuch from the office of the adjutant general in Washington. Among the specialists needed are cable spicers, telephone and telegraph installer-repairmen, radio repairmen, radio operators, telephone or telegraph repeatermen, telegraph operators, telegraphic

Modest Rally Lifts Majority Of Leaders Behind Plus Signs

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 27.—The stock market firmed today under the lead of rails, after drifting irregularly lower through early dealings.

Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Atlantic coast line all were up fractions to new highs, with Santa Fe at its best price since 1938. Buying in the group continued to reflect the many bullish earnings statements.

Speculative sentiment generally still was dominated by the Nazi drive into the Caucasus. Also a factor was the administration's effort to obtain a bigger tax bill from Congress.

The modest rally lifted the majority of leaders behind plus signs. Included were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Du Pont, American Smelting, International Harvester, Standard Oil of N. J., Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber and Goodrich.

Several issues continued to lag. Union Carbide was down a point to 66 1/2 before meeting support. Air Reduction, International Nickel, Anaconda, Lone Star Cement and Goodyear all gave up fractions.

United Employees Picnic Saturday

First Annual Event Proves Enjoyable Affair With Officials As Guests

Saturday was a real holiday for employees of the United Engineering company and their families when the first picnic of this new concern, coming here to engage in defense manufacturing, took place at Rock Springs Park along Slippery Rock creek.

The picnickers gathered early and under the direction of General Chairman Frank Strizzi and his aides, there was something doing from then until 12:30 that night, when the dancing program was concluded.

The merchants of the city had donated some splendid prizes and the sports events were warmly contested.

In addition to the various contests there were several fine boxing bouts, a wrestling match, swimming and other things that go to make any picnic a real success.

In the golf contest consolation honors went to Glenn Throop, engineer, and W. R. Hodder, general plant manager.

In addition to the local officials of the company, officials were present from Pittsburgh and Youngstown, and they were well taken care of during the day.

All are looking forward to next year when the concern will be much bigger and the crowd much larger.

DEFENDERS OF ROSTOV BATTLE NAZI ADVANCE

suburban attacks by drunken German soldiers were repelled," the high command said in a communique at noon.

"On another sector in bloody fighting the Germans penetrated the Russian defenses."

At the same time a further withdrawal by the Russians in the Tsimlyansk sector, 125 miles north-northwest, was announced.

"In the Tsimlyansk sector," the high command said, "Our troops fell back to new positions."

The situation for the Russian defenders, seeking to prevent a crossing of the lower Don river in force, continued to deteriorate.

Over Wide Area

The battling for the oil-rich Caucasus extended over an extremely wide area between Rostov and Tsimlyansk with the Germans attempting to throw up pontoon bridges at numerous points.

Other Nazi troops took to rubber dinghies and rafts to skirt the wide waterway. The number of points at which the Germans sought to establish bridges made defense extremely difficult.

The new break-through by the Germans at Rostov, the high command said, cost the enemy 20 tanks and 700 killed.

In the north around Voronezh the situation remained favorable for the Russians and Soviet troops made new crossings to the west bank of the Don in counter-attacks against the Germans. Some 1,000 Nazis were killed in one day of battling at Voronezh, the high command said.

Soviet troops at Voronezh now hold more positions on the west bank of the Don than do the Germans on the east bank, indicating that the battle definitely has swung to the Russians.

There is some likelihood that the Nazis may be swept entirely from the east bank of the river. Their desperate counter-attacks have failed.

On one sector of this front the Nazis lost four regiments in three weeks.

Large Scale Tank Battle

One sector of the Tsimlyansk front, the army leaders said, a large-scale tank battle is in progress. The Germans were said to have lost 30 tanks already.

A Moscow dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company in London said that the Soviet defenders of Rostov were dropping bottles of liquid fire upon the advancing Nazis from the roofs of buildings.

In the vicinity of Bryansk, 200 miles southwest of Moscow, the Russians are pursuing attacks against the Germans, the high command said.

An entire regiment was said to have been routed, 30 tanks destroyed and an important height occupied. Piece engagements were taking place in the suburban streets of Rostov and all along the banks of the Don to Tsimlyansk where the Soviets smashed furiously against the Nazis from the air in an attempt to keep the enemy from extending a foothold on the south bank.

Further Threat To Stalingrad

The Germans, flinging all available armament and manpower into the drive to take Rostov and skirt the Don into the oil-rich Caucasus further developed the threat to the industrial city of Stalingrad on the Volga through a fast-moving eastward offensive.

No less than six battles were fought in the past 48 hours on the Steppes surrounded by the loop of the Don where it extends eastward to the proximity of Stalingrad. Moscow sources conceded that the Germans in this fighting held numerical superiority.

(Axis reports said that German and Rumanian forces already had reached the vicinity of the great Don elbow which lies only about 30 miles west of Stalingrad.)

HALF CENTURY OF STEADY PROGRESS BEING CELEBRATED

be held at Ewing Park. Activities will continue throughout the evening featuring two softball games and many other exhibitions.

Climaxing the day will be the coronation ball tonight at the Elks club. During the evening, announcement will be made of the winner of the Miss Ewing City title. The winner will be given a wristwatch and a trip to Washington. Other queens will serve as attendants and the entire group will take part in the pageant each evening.

Civilian Defense Day

Tuesday will be Civilian Defense Day and all indications are that it will be a real test. It will take place at 4 o'clock in front of the city building. Plans call for the erection of the blue, yellow, red and white showing the progress of a fictitious enemy plane, starting from New Castle. The air-raid wardens, auxiliary police, fire department and first-aid corps will swing into action.

Homecoming Day

One of the most anticipated events of the week will be homecoming day to be observed on Wednesday at Ewing Park. Hundreds of old-timers are expected to be on hand to greet old friends. The shelter houses in Ewing park will be marked off much like college alumni affairs whereby those who lived here in 1899 or 1905 will be able to fraternize with those folks they knew in those days.

The day will begin with a basket picnic at noon and will feature a "remember when" period to be broadcast over a public address system. An added attraction will be an old-timers baseball game. The players will wear the suits worn at the baseball centennial held at Cooperstown, N. Y., in 1940.

Thursday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, an Industrial Day program will be held at the Lincoln auditorium. Many notable war heroes and industrial heads will take part in the program.

Governor To Attend

Friday, the city will be honored with a visit by Governor Arthur H. James, and also to take part at the 4 o'clock program will be the nominees for governor, Martin and Ross.

Climaxing the entire week will be Saturday's huge parade which will begin at 4:30 o'clock. Dozens of floats and visiting bands will take part in the spectacle which is expected to eclipse anything of the kind ever held here. In the evening, a nationalities program will be presented at the high school football field with the groups to present a two-hour program of folk dances.

Historical Pageant

The outstanding feature of the entire celebration will be the historical pageant, "America On Parade," to be presented Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at the football field. A cast of more than 1100 local people will take part in the much heralded spectacle.

From the opening scene with Columbus landing in America to the climatic "Remember Pearl Harbor" scene and the gigantic fireworks finale, rapid moving scenes of action will hold the spectators in awe of the magnitude of the patriotic production. The pageant begins at 8:30 each evening and will last until 10 o'clock.

John W. Offutt is the Jubilee general chairman and he is assisted by many most capable committees.

THE HORSE COMES BACK

(International News Service)

LONDON—New fuel restrictions in Britain have brought the horse back into circulation, and have doubled his price. Horses that sold two years ago for $200 are selling for more than $400—when they can be bought. Brewers, dairy companies, coal merchants, laundries, and hauling companies have almost demanded the market of good horses.

Bing Crosby made $400,000 last year. Fortunately he had a big family and therefore was permitted to hold out $4500 of it.

PAY OFF YOUR DEBTS

... Here's how a Household loan can help you clean up your old bills on a monthly payment plan

Do you need some extra cash? Would you like to pay off old bills as part of your monthly financial program? This advertisement tells about a simple plan which is helping many men and women with their present day money problems.

Suppose you need $100 for an emergency or to pay off debts. You can get the money in a quick, simple transaction. Then you may repay on a regular monthly payment plan. At the end of a definite time you are entirely in the clear. The payment plan thus becomes a personal debt paying program.

The cost of this service is reasonable. Suppose you borrow $100 and repay in six monthly installments of $18.15 each, a total of $108.90. The cost of your loan is just $8.90. A $50 loan, repaid in six monthly installments of $9.08 each, a total of $54.48, costs only $4.48.

This service has been specially designed for folks with jobs. Many people have no car, furniture or other security on which to borrow. And they hate to ask friends to sign notes. Salary loans give these people an opportunity to borrow on earning ability and willingness to repay. When you get a salary loan you merely give us your personal note. We take no wage assignment of any kind. And no endorser are required. We make many loans on other plans. The principal requirement is a job or other source of income. Even when making car and furniture loans, we consider character and regular income far more important than the actual value of your security.

Loans for many purposes

You may use a Household loan to pay a doctor or dentist bill, insurance, installment contracts, old store bills, car repairs, union fees, a training course, tools, moving expense, coal for winter—and for expenses of many other kinds.

You may repay your loan on almost any plan you wish. The table shows how loans may be repaid in 2 to 12 payments. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Look in the table now for the loan you need. See how you may repay out of monthly income.

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a loan balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100.

This rate is substantially below the maximum permitted by the Pennsylvania Small Loan Law. Lower operating costs permit us to give our customers the advantage of a lower rate. Compare rates and costs before you borrow anywhere. Why pay more for your loan than you have to?

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. Or just phone and tell us how much you need.

FULLERTON-WAGNER NEWS IS ANNOUNCED

C. D. OF A. PICNIC WILL BE TONIGHT

Mrs. A. R. Smith of 667 Superior street announces the marriage of her daughter, Louise Fullerton, to Donald Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wagner of R. D. 3. The ceremony took place Friday morning, July 24, at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle, with the Rev. R. J. Fredericks, the pastor, officiating, using the double ring service.

Miss June Lowry and Edward Say were their attendants.

Mrs. Claude Wagner, Mrs. A. R. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. E. Chalmers and son Billy were present.

After the ceremony, a dinner and reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with Mrs. Mildred Martin and Mrs. Mabel Frazier serving.

The bride is a graduate of New Castle high school, class of '42, and was employed at Boyd's Dairy. The groom is employed at the Shenango Pottery.

The couple are now on a short wedding trip and will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 412 Epworth street.

This evening, the annual July picnic held by the Catholic Daughters of America, will be held at Cascade park.

From the hours of 7 to 9 o'clock, various contests and other diversions will be enjoyed.

Later a delicious picnic supper will be served in the park grove, served by the committee in charge. Mrs. Nell Hannon is in charge, and she is being aided by a list of committees.

Knight Reunion

Two hundred attended the 21st annual reunion of the Knight family at Neshannock Falls Saturday. Picnic meals were served at noon and in the evening in the grove.

During the afternoon, officers were elected: president, Willis Mathis; secretary, Mrs. Hanna I. Voras; treasurer, Mrs. Arch Bigley. Serving on the table committee were Mrs. Ted Elmore, E. Smolnik and E. Bigley.

Games, swimming and old-time square and round dancing furnished entertainment. Mrs. Hanna Brophy, Mrs. Carrie Elmore, Andre Voras and Sheddick Knight of Wampum were among the prize winners for dancing.

Three Are Dead In Truck Crash

Drives Loses Life As He Sticks To Post In Pittsburgh Accident

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Tribute was paid today to a young Chicago truck driver who sacrificed his life in his runaway truck in a vain attempt to prevent death or injury to pedestrians at the foot of a steep Pittsburgh hill Saturday.

Richard Keyser, 27, died several hours after the accident, raising the death toll to three, but police said only his courage and skill in riding the heavy vehicle on its mad plunge prevented a greater loss of life.

A letter in Keyser's pocket told of the loneliness of his wife and son in Chicago. On the back was written "Love to daddy from Rickey," with a row of X's as kisses. A notation by his wife explained: "I held Rickey's hand while he wrote you—now he's crying because he didn't want to stop."

Others Killed

Others killed in the accident were Ralph E. Kiskadden, 65, driver of a passenger car which was literally wrapped around a utility pole when it was struck by Keyser's truck, and Frank Spudich, about 55, a helper on a huckster's wagon. Two others were injured, both passengers in Kiskadden's machine.

The brakes on Keyser's truck, loaded with hundreds of cans of wax, gave out on the hill, and the heavy vehicle raced downhill, demolishing a huckster's wagon and setting fire to two other cars before it came to a halt against a school building.

Lake Mattamuskeet, North Carolina, 50,000-acre federal waterfowl refuge, dropped to nine inches below sea level during the 1941 drought. The lake level is normally seven inches above sea level.

Society Dedicates Auxiliary Banner

Large Crowd Attends Banner
Dedication Of Sons And Daughters Of St.
Margaret's

"Unity is strength," this statement was voiced by the many speakers included on the program Sunday, at the impressive ceremony of the Auxiliary banner dedication at the Sons and Daughters of St. Margaret's Society.

The bandstand on the grounds adjoining the club rooms, was patriotically decorated, and the ceremony started at 7:30 o'clock. A large audience was noted on the lawn.

Following the Star Spangled Banner, Nick Caney, toastmaster got things under way, with brief remarks of welcome. The Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito, pastor of St. Lucy's church, conducted the blessing of the flag, and sponsors were Patsy Monaco and Mrs. Mary Bongiovengo. Father Ippolito gave an inspiring address, citing the significance of the banner, and respect of which it is due.

A speaker's program was heard after the flag blessing, and those who expressed good wishes in behalf of their organizations, and hoped for strength, unity, and progress for the Sons and Daughters of St. Margaret's Society included: Mrs. Clotilda Ross, president of the Casa Savoia Auxiliary; Mrs. Concetta Leonardo, representative of Casa Savoia Auxiliary; Mrs. Catherine Gillett and Mrs. Elizabeth Cubellis of the Unione Calabro club; Tony Isabella, of the Armada Diaz lodge, West Pittsburgh; Bartolomeo Lombardo, president of St. Margaret's Society; Mrs. T. C. Rainey, president of Sacred Heart Society of St. Lucy's church; Flossie Masone, president of Immaculate Conception Sodality; Mrs. Stella Lombardo, president of Christopher Columbus Auxiliary; Presley Jones, representative; Joe Palmieri, Attorney Joseph Leta, Jr.; Mrs. Louis O'Kuzo, vice-president; Mrs. Anna Domenick, secretary; Mrs. Rose Zarilla, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret Fioriente, flag bearer; Louis Rainey, service flag bearer; Mrs. Florence Domenick, president of the honored Society, thanked all for their remarks, and hoped that in the future the Sons and Daughters of St. Margaret's Society, will continue to progress.

Founders of the organization, Bartolomeo Lombardo and Joe Palmieri were introduced.

A delicious lunch was served in the St. Margaret's hall, at the conclusion of the program, the room also being decorated with patriotic colors. The committee served and husbands of the members were guests. A dance was featured later in the evening the music provided by Tony Prescaro and Victor Gaspare and their musicians. They also provided the military selections during the ceremony on the club grounds.

A cake walk was an added attraction, and Mrs. Margaret Pia was the winner. Lovely bouquets of flowers were received from the St. Margaret's Society, Sacred Heart Society, and the Columbus Auxiliary Society.

Honored guests were presented with lovely shoulder corsages, also in the patriotic theme. Tokens were received by the Society, from the Unione Calabro club, Patsy Monaco, Casa Savoia Auxiliary, Sons and Daughters of St. Margaret's Society, Mrs. Mary Bongiovengo, Mrs. Rose Zarilla and Rev. Fr. S. Ippolito.

Mrs. Mary Galliano, chairman is responsible for the success of the event, and assisting her in arrangements were: Mesdames, Rose Zarilla, Mamie Cepro, Louise Caney, Anna Masters, Mary Torsello, Catherine Ross, Mary O'Kuzo, Teresa Carbone, Julia Rozzi, Anna Domenick, Rose DeDario, Margaret Fioriente and Sandy Rainey. Mrs. Florence Domenick is president of the group.

Announcement was made of the trustee meeting, for Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock, in the club rooms.

Flags Presented To Christian Church

After the Sunday school session, at the Madison Avenue Christian church, preceding the Sunday morning preaching service, there was a service for the presentation of the American and Christian flags to the church with I. G. Clark in charge. Mr. Clark made the dedicatory prayer.

Robert Park and Walter Evans brought the flags forward to the playing of "Onward Christian Soldiers".

Warren Huff, Boy Scout led the congregation in the salute to the flag, after which all sang the "Star Spangled Banner".

A reading appropriate to the occasion was given by Grace Leasure, also a reading by Mr. Clark.

The names on the honor roll were read and 30 seconds of silence was served in honor of Wilton Taylor, who gave his life at Pearl Harbor.

The flags were presented to the church from the Berean class by Mr. Clark, and Edward Bevan, chairman of the official board, received them.

Small Generating Plants Sought By United States Army

Anyone Who Can Sell Plant To Government Asked To Contact D. L. Fulkman

Dorris L. Fulkman of the Lawrence county USA War Board has been informed that the army will purchase small power generating plants not now in use to meet the rapidly growing needs of the armed forces. These power plants are wanted by the U. S. Army Signal Corps for operating communications equipment, especially at remote bases where current is not available from established plants.

Specifically the types of power plants (both engine and generator) needed include gasoline, diesel, kerosene or fuel oil driven motors, operating 110 to 220-volt generators. AC only. Equipment of this type can be used in capacities from 500 watts to 25 kilowatts and larger.

All negotiations in connection with inspection and approval for purchase will be handled by the Army Signal Corps representatives in direct contact with the owner.

Anyone having such equipment should get in touch with the Conservation office at 303 Court House annex, New Castle, Pa. or call 3009.

Auditor General Ross Makes Reply

Says Charge Of Payroll Padding Marks Opening Of G. O. P. Campaign

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Auditor General F. Clair Ross, Democratic nominee for governor today characterized as "the opening of the Republican gubernatorial campaign" a report by Secretary of Revenue Edward B. Logan accusing him of "padding" his mercantile and inheritance tax collecting payrolls.

"I have not had the opportunity to read the statement but will confer with bureau chiefs in charge of inheritance and mercantile collections," said Ross upon his return from a trip to Washington and Pittsburgh over the week-end. He promises a more formal answer to the charges later.

Logan's report, made public by Gov. Arthur H. James on Friday, charged the state fiscal officer with "padding" his mercantile and inheritance tax collecting payrolls with political aides, among them 21 members of the Democratic state committee.

In a move interpreted as aimed at forcing Ross to dismiss what Logan termed "entirely needless employees" the revenue secretary, an appointee of the governor, refused to approve deductions for payroll and expenses authorized by the auditor general. The amounts being deducted are unreasonable and thoroughly unjustified," stated Logan.

Reports Poverty Is Widespread On The Continent

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA Poverty, food scarcity and sacrifice mark European countries, according to Dr. Raymond C. Baron who returned to Philadelphia after completing his five-year medical studies at the University of Lausanne, in Switzerland.

There's no ordering "a la carte" in Vichy, France, for they don't have a menu, stated the doctor. His meal at a railway station consisted of soup, two vegetables and one slice of bread.

"The population of France is poorly dressed. Women are lacking in stockings and in many cases going without shoes," he said.

"Poverty is evident all over Spain. Barefoot children keep calling for money. In Madrid you are limited to one slice of bread with a meal, and I paid the equivalent of $2 for a package of American cigarettes."

"Portugal was the only prosperous country and Switzerland was just beginning to feel the pinch when I left."

One of the richest sources of fine mahogany today is the vast jungle forest on the upper Amazon, in western Brazil and in Peru. It was discovered only 30 years ago, and has never been completely explored and its extent is unknown.

Camp East Brook Chatter

The last camping period at Camp East Brook is in progress with thirty-nine hale and hearty spirits, two of whom attended the previous two weeks.

The program got under way with an evening of progressive games Tuesday; one of dance instruction, Wednesday, and a hike on Thursday.

Friday was camper-counselor day during which time the campers take the places of the counselors and the counselors take the places of the campers. Those elected to undertake the responsibilities of the staff were: Verna Taylor, director; Bette McNeil, nurse; Maxine Taylor, pianist; Sally Hoagland, nature coun-

APPROVAL HELD UP

In a letter to Register and Recorder Orville Potter, Edward B. Logan, Director of the Budget for the commonwealth, has informed Mr. Potter that he has withheld approval of the settlement of inheritance taxes for the month of February and those following.

The explanation of the refusal is found in a long statement which came with the letter in which Mr. Logan states that the expenses of the office of Auditor General F. Clair Ross have increased so greatly that an investigation is being made. Mr. Logan says that 21 members of the Democratic state committee are employed either in the mercantile or inheritance tax bureau.

Needed for War

Follow this chart and save it as a basis for collecting waste materials in your house and on your premises.

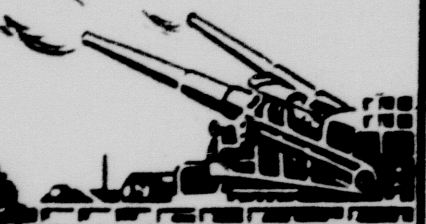

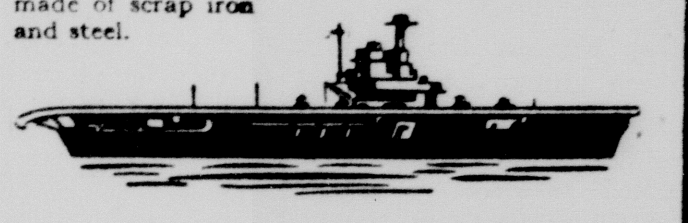

SCRAP IRON AND STEEL

Old stoves, radiators, bathtubs, boilers, toys, plumbing tools, crank handles, lawn mowers, tire chains, furnace grates, bedsteads, flatirons, ash cans, outdoor steel furniture, muskets, golf clubs, sleds, bicycles, pokers, garden implements, bed springs, all kinds of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, iron stakes and fencing, iron wheels and doorstops.

HELPS MAKE

Shells, guns, cargo ships, aircraft carriers, armored cars, tanks, submarines, range finders—all machines and arms of warfare. About 50% of every tank, ship and gun is made of scrap iron and steel.

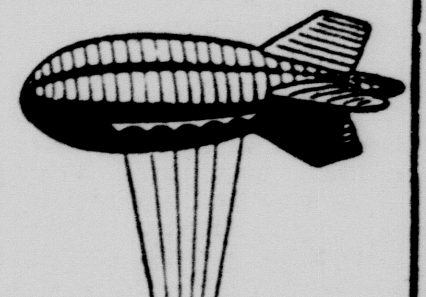

OTHER METALS ... RUBBER ... RAGS ... MANILA ROPE ... BURLAP BAGS

Old batteries, lighting fixtures, cooking utensils, automobile and bicycle tires and tubes, garden hose, rubbers, clothing, dust cloths, rags, draperies, rugs, carpets, manila rope in any condition, burlap bags.

HELPS MAKE

Bombs, fuses, binoculars, compasses, planes, tires for trucks, jeeps, gas masks, barrage balloons, parachute flares, insulation for electric wiring.

HOW TO TURN IN YOUR JUNK

Sell it to a Junk dealer
Take it yourself to nearest collection point

Or Consult Your Local Salvage Committee. Phone: New Castle 3668.

If you live on a farm and have a waste no method of disposing of scrap, phone or write your Township Salvage Chairman or consult your farm implement dealer.

OTHER VITAL MATERIALS NEEDED AND HOW TO DISPOSE OF THEM

Waste Fats To help relieve shortage of fats and oils. Needed for glycerine to make explosives. Save pan and broiler drippings and deep fats after you've got all the cooking good from them. Strain into wide-mouthed tin can, that is spotlessly clean. Keep in refrigerator or cool, dark place until you have collected a pound or more. Then sell to your meat dealer.

TIN TUBES—Tooth paste, cosmetic and shaving cream tubes. Turn in at drug store when you purchase new supply.

WASTE PAPER—Needed only when announced by Local Salvage Committee.

TIN CANS—Wanted only in certain areas accessible to detinning plants, as announced locally.

NOT NEEDED (at this time) —Razor blades and glass.

We are facing a crisis in our war production program. Unless we salvage at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap iron and steel promptly, and great quantities of rubber and other materials, our boys may not get all the fighting weapons they need—in time...

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

HARLANSBURG

Mrs. Kate Hunt of near Grant City was a Thursday evening caller of Mrs. Homer Glenn.

Over one hundred members of the Baptist Sunday school gathered at the Grove City park for their annual picnic on Tuesday evening July 21. A picnic supper was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Humphrey of Chicago have been spending a few days with Rev. and Mrs. James Humphrey.

Around fifteen ladies were present at the home of Mrs. Anna Turner on Thursday, July 23 at an all day meeting. The entire day was spent in sewing, with a luncheon at noon. At the regular hour a devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Mabel Kuetam on the subject "Glorifying God." Each lady present took part with Mrs. Lena Mathewson giving a talk on the subject.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Brenneman and family of Pittsburgh are spending the week end at the K. N. Brenneman residence. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Offutt and son of Ellwood City were Friday evening dinner guests at the same home.

Babe Young Draws Man Of Week Award

Gangling First Sacker, Converted Into Outfielder, Lifts Giants Into Third

(International News Service)
Listed at the bottom of the alphabet in baseball's who's who is Norman Babe Young. But he's right at the top in the affection of New York Giant baseball fans and for good reason.

Since the gangling first baseman was converted into an outfielder a little over a week ago, the Giants climbed into third place. Most of the vital upsurge can be attributed to resounding blows darting like heavy sparks from Young's bat.

That's why the 6 foot 2 inch flier from Astoria, L. I., is our man of the week.

Playing against Pittsburgh last Thursday, the 185-pound fly re-trainer, smacked a three-run game-winning homer. The following day he belted one out of the premises with fervent prayers and hay wire.

The feat of climbing into third place looms larger and larger to long suffering Giant fans.

Came Up In 1936
Young joined the Giants in 1936. He appeared once as a pinch hitter, then was sent to Richmond, Va. the following year. There he was known as a lazy, indifferent player, although he clouted 15 home runs and batted to the tune of .332.

From Richmond, he yanked his way to New Orleans in 1938, back to Richmond and then to Knoxville in 1939 when the Giants called him back home.

Acquisition of big Johnny Mize benched the Astoria clodger at the beginning of this season. Since he had produced 42 home runs the previous two years, Ott moved him to the outfield to gain additional power, and in a moment of desperation.

Young is no Tris Speaker affield, but his play there has been adequate. And his actions at the plate have benched down comfort to Manager Ott.

Saratoga Season Will Open Today

(International News Service)
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 27.—The nation's oldest race-course—born during the civil war—begins another war meeting today with a thirty-day fight for its own existence sharing the spotlight with some of the sportiest racing in America.

Backers of the most sporting race-track in the land never worry about a grand or two during August. So they decided to open their Elm-studded plant in the face of everything. And indications are that the meeting will be one of the most successful in years from the sporting viewpoint.

For one thing, a two-year-old champion is quite likely to come out of the spa meeting. As yet, a truly great juvenile hasn't turned up but with the entire Saratoga program of 27 stake races geared to the hunt for next year's Kentucky Derby winner, starting with today's flash stakes, the crowning of a new champion may be just around the corner.

Bettina To Fight Dorazio Tonight

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Mello Bettina, of Beacon, N. Y., will be a three-to-one favorite to hand a second defeat to burly Gus Dorazio, of Philadelphia, when the heavyweights clash in a 10-rounder at Shibe Park tonight.

Bettina, who conquered Gus last March, enters the Army next Thursday. He's fought his victorious way through 33 heavy-weight bouts since deserting the light-heavy ranks in 1940.

New Salvage Drives For Lawrence County Will Be Initiated

Plenty of book papers, envelopes, decorative papers for gift wrap-pings, kraft papers, multi-wall bags, and paper bags are available for all civilian as well as military needs. Indeed, there is a marked over-supply of paperboard and newsprint and in no one of these items can there be seen any shortage for the war's entire duration.

These statements from R. D. Rosenberg, chairman of the Lawrence County Salvage committee, were authorized in communications received yesterday from Colley S. Baker, state executive for salvage, in Harrisburg.

Rosenberg stated that the whole scene of "paper shortage" was the result of war hysteria and unanticipated events which upset the best statistics. Leaders of both the paper industry and government are beginning to realize the mistakes that have been made, and there is a growing recognition on both sides of the need for higher defense classification of pulp and paper commodities in the war program.

No Extravagance
But he warned that the fact that there is a plentiful supply of paper for all requirements now should not be regarded as license for extravagant use of this valuable material. Paper is highly important to our war effort because it must bear a heavy load as the substitute for metal and plastics in packaging for both civilian and military uses.

Paper of all kinds which has been saved and collected by local and patriotic salvage committees, business houses and housewives should be disposed of through waste paper buyers or charitable organizations which will accept it, or destroyed.

War Worker Wins Award For Sculpture

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA—Eight hours a day Elmore Cave's hands help to turn out heavy tanks in the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

After work, those same hands produce the prize-winning creations of Elmore Cave, sculptor.

Cave was recently announced as the winner of the $1,000 first prize in the annual competition of the American Academy in Rome. The 26-year-old former machinist drew his inspiration for the winning statue of a riveter and his helper from the very men with whom he worked. He observed them on his nightly shift and modeling them after working hours.

"The faces of the men are abstractions," Cave said modestly, "but I think they're typical of the rugged, eager men I'm working with. No nobody in the shop knew what I was doing until I won the prize."

The youthful artist came from St. Louis six years ago to study at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He had $200 for tuition, but he stayed four years on scholarships.

Cave was honored before by the Academy when he was awarded a $1,000 prize in 1939. He used that to travel through Europe.

Conference Will Open August 7

Thirty-Seventh Annual New Wilmington Missionary Assembly Scheduled

Thirty-seventh annual New Wilmington Missionary Conference will open Friday evening, August 7, with a service in the tabernacle at New Wilmington.

Rev. Mills J. Taylor, D. D., of Philadelphia, Pa., conference chairman, will give the opening address on the theme of the conference, "Christ Is the Answer."

About 500 young people, with 150 missionaries and leaders, will make up the conference group this year. The program provides for classes in Bible study, Mission study and stewardship study in the morning, recreation in the afternoon, and inspirational services in the evening.

The conference uses, in addition to its own tabernacle, some of the buildings of Westminster church and the United Presbyterian church.

Conference girls will be housed in college dormitories and in cottages, while the boys will live in Camp Suezin, a village of fifteen or twenty tents set up on the college athletic field.

For the conference period, August 7-13, the college gymnasium will be converted into a giant dining hall where the entire conference will be served at one sitting.

The United Presbyterian board of foreign missions, of which Dr. Taylor is associate secretary, sponsors the conference every year for the purpose of spreading information about, fostering interest in, and enlisting personnel for their missions work in Egypt, Sudan, India and Ethiopia.

Local Youth Goes To Officer School

Pvt. Fred M. Kerr, Former B. & O. Employee, Sent To Officer Training School

(Special To The News)

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., July 27 —In a special order issued by Colonel William S. Taylor, commanding officer of the 149th Infantry Regiment, 38th Cyclone Division, Private Fred M. Kerr has been promoted to the rank of corporal and transferred to the Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Kerr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Kerr of New Castle. He is a graduate of New Castle high school and for three years prior to induction into the army was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The newly appointed officer candidate's wife is the former Helen Truschel. They were married in August, 1941, and reside at 316 N. Shenango St.

War Plants Accept Discharge Papers For Proof Of Birth

Service men who experience difficulty in obtaining birth certificates, as required by many employers, may now submit their military discharge papers instead, under the provisions of a new federal law.

This act, according to H. Raymond Mason, U. S. Employment Service director for Pennsylvania, provides that no war contractor shall deny employment, on account of failure to produce a birth certificate, to any person who is otherwise qualified and is able to produce an honorable discharge certificate from any of the military establishments of the United States government.
